

NCVF Partners with USA Volleyball to Host 2010 NCVF Collegiate Club Volleyball Championship Tournament

Monday, July 13, 2009

The National Collegiate Volleyball Federation (NCVF) in cooperation with USA Volleyball will be hosting the 2010 NCVF National Collegiate Club Championship Tournament in Louisville, Kentucky on April 1- 3, 2010.

Gaining momentum from the USA national teams Olympic medal performances in Beijing, USA Volleyball touts a full range of sport-specific and large event expertise and will significantly enhance NCVF efforts to promote affordable and quality opportunities for male and female club athletes throughout the USA.

The NCVF is a national organization comprised of volleyball club league commissioners, students and collegiate club representatives who volunteer season-long support for constituent student club organizations across America. It's partnership with USA Volleyball, the national governing body for the sport, will bring an unprecedented range of resources to students, coaches, administrators and supporters.

The 2010 Louisville event is endorsed by the following persons and organizations as the official and exclusive 2010 national club championship event for all NCVF teams:
